Community Chautauqua

The Norway and South Paris Community Chautauqua opened their fourth season at the fair grounds Wednesday afternoon and will close Sunday night. Nearly 500 people attended the afternoon performance, which is the largest first session crowd since the Community Chautauqua commenced here, and it is said to be the greatest first day attendance in the particular group has had this season.

Theresa Sheehan Concert Company was the afternoon attraction. It included Miss Sheehan, violinist, and Miss Ethel McPhee, soprano soloist. A delightful program was given, which included vocal and instrumental solos, dramatic readings and ensemble numbers. Miss Sheehan's portrayal of the Titanic tragedy, in poetry and gesture was one of the best in the line ever offered the local theatre goers. Miss Desjardins proved an artist with the violin and well received.

Miss McPhee possessed a clear soprano voice to please the audience and they appreciated her thoughtfulfulness by a generous applause.

An audience numbering eight hundred assembled Wednesday evening when the same artists presented another delightful program. Miss Sheehan's reading "Chateau Thierry" illustrating the successful stand made by the U. S. Marines thrilled the audience. They would not allow the reader to retire until two encores were given.

The lecture, "Echoes of the German Revolution," by F. E. Clement-Thompson, of Liverpool, England, concluded the evening program. The speaker is an English engineer of international fame and before the war resided in Boston, Mass., several years. His knowledge, and all the most necessary power to anticipate the German plans before any physical movements were visible, brought him early into consultation with prominent strategists.

The lecture was an unveiling of German schemes and a warning to "watch out."

Under this thin covering of external penitence, Germany is even now an international menace industrially and in a military way, according to the speaker.

The key note and climax was the statement that Germany should be disarmed, and that to pay the cost of this past war.

Everybody is enthusiastic over the Chautauqua. The committees are on the job every minute with nothing to chance. Never before have so many season tickets been in demand. The country side has turned out, many coming a dozen or more miles to the location. The local organization has been complimented by the Chautauqua management for its efficiency and business methods, therefore this series should pass on the local records as the best yet.

The superintendent is Walter Thrope, his assistants are James O. Hughes and A. M. Taylor with Miss McClure, superintendent of the Junior Chautauqua. The outfit arrived Monday from Richmond, Quebec and will follow the New England circuit during the remainder of the season. Seven tents are working through Maine with a change every day. This method allows the artists continuous work.

Rain Tuesday made tent raising a disagreeable job, but with a husky crew, the canvas was pitched and everything in fine order before night.

Wet grounds forced Miss McClure to assemble her youngsters, Tuesday evening on the High School lot where arrangements were completed for the games and the work during the week. After the racket hunt in which two girls and two boys secured the coveted postcards, an organization was completed. The local assistants this year are Mrs. Oliver J. Foss, Josephine Chase, both of Norway, with Evelyn Wright and Dorothy Wright of South Paris. This event is a powerful thing for the children and a large number are enjoying the morning play hours under the program for the remainder of the course.

DECISION IN NORWAY AND SOUTH PARIS RAILWAY COMPLAINT

A decision was rendered Saturday, July 19, by the Public Utilities Commission in the case of Citizens of Norway and Paris against the Oxford Electric Co. to require the railway to operate its line between Norway and South Paris, discontinue the street railway and the commissioners feel that at present the Company ought not be compelled to resume service. The decision is as follows:

"We caused our engineering force to make a careful investigation and estimate of the amount necessary to do things which would put the road in shape for service, and they reported that it would be necessary to expend the sum of $20,786," say the commissioners in their decision.

"The parties being unable to get together, it becomes the duty of the commission to reach and announce a decision.

"No street railway has been built in the state of Maine for several years. The parties to this case are in existence are facing a very serious situation. We know of two or three street railway projects which prior to the war period had been carried out but which are waiting now the return of somewhat different conditions and are unable in the least particular to interest capital during these times.

"Regardless of the causes which have led up to the condition in which the railway company finds itself so far as street railway operations are concerned, we are faced by the fact that today there is in the villages of Norway and South Paris no street railway to all intents and purposes. Here is, to be sure, a right of way, a fair overhead construction, and a right to do business, but in order to put itself in a position where it could serve the public with safety and dependability a very considerable amount would have to be invested.

"If the situation is as we conceive it to be, namely, two villages less than two miles apart with no street railway, it can be used connecting them, are we under the circumstances compelled or authorized to require the building of a street railway to meet the needs of these two communities? We do not believe we are.

"As to our authority to require the company to resume service if the facts warranted such an order, the company strenuously claims that under the circumstances disclosed we are entirely without such authority. It says that it is operating and has been operating at a loss, and that the law is such that it has a right to cease operations when the circumstances are such that a continuation of operation would result in confiscation. We do not undertake to express an opinion upon this matter, because our decision does not require us to do so. We do, however, feel that if the circumstances were such as to make it all reasonable we have the undoubted authority to require a public utility to perform its public duty.

"Should we undertake to in any way authorize a permanent abandonment of service by the respondent? This matter is perhaps not before us, because the company is not asking for such an order. It is asking for an order to require the company to resume service. By expressing our belief that it is not proper for us to grant the request we do not by any means determine that the service may not at some time be resumed either by this or by another company and we leave to us to inquire whether if the company is not to resume service at this time and does not feel that it may resume service in the future it should continue to occupy the field.

"It was stated at one of the earlier hearings that the company had offered to sell that which it owned and was using in street railway operations to the citizens of Norway and Paris at the junk price and would, if it could, give up the street railway to the citizens of Norway or would permit the two towns to operate under their franchise. So far as the matter of power was concerned we are not concerned. It is the duty of the company to operate the street railway at a rate which might be approved by this commission.

We think the company should in some way and somewhat promptly indicate through this commission to the people of Norway and Paris whether it desires to at some time resume service or whether it desires to permanently abandon service, and in that event whether it is willing to definitely retire from the field and permit others, if they desire, to occupy the field and take the service in a position to render this service.

"It should not be understood that our decision means that if the company retains its right to do business and a situation should be disclosed in the future which would make it reasonably necessary for the company to resume service we are without the power or the disposition to act when the occasion arises. We feel and this is as far as we go, that at present the company ought not to be compelled to resume service."

George A. Dubey reached home Wednesday, having received his discharge from the service with the Headquarters Company, First Replacement Depot. He left here in April, 1917, as a recruit in Company D, 2nd Me. Regt., and remained with the outfit until they went into training overseas. Since that time it was a constant change.

Philip E. Foss has received his discharge from the medical service at Fort Leavitt and returned home.

Sixty new steel safety deposit boxes were installed this week in the vault at the Norway Savings Bank. There are but few more needed. Those who have been using the large boxes temporarily can exchange for the smaller sized ones if they choose.

Royal Neighbors of America will meet at Woodman Hall, Wednesday, July 30, at 8 o'clock. Deputy Minnie Clement and assistant is expected to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Everett and children and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stone and grandson, Donald Everett, were in Lewiston, Saturday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Cleve Bell has returned from West Bethel after an absence of four months. She passed several weeks of that time in the Central Maine General Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Bell have opened their home, corner Paris and Alpine streets.

BASEBALL

Buckfield 10; Norway 2
Buckfield passed the lemon punch to Norway Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds in an affair hearing about the resemblance to baseball that our deceased street car does to an ocean liner. It was an awful feed to serve the local fans, but it may have its good points in the end and teach a lesson learned in no other way.

Buckfield placed a hard hitting team and deserved to win from the depths of their generous hearts.

They played baseball with their hands, feet and heads until the big lead gave them a reckless spirit that handed the usually win runs to Norway. They were gifts pure and simple, right from the depths of their generous hearts.

The first three innings passed without a knock. Both teams snapped the game along with predictions along the line that the event would prove a hotly contested battle. This was pure nonsense. Buckfield in the fourth session penetrated the thin coating and hacked away in a merry carnival of hits (which never should have gone as such) and various tactics.

Norway striped this onslaught and gave absolute evidence that the machine was all balled up. In other words many in the outfit went "sky hooking" with a number of bone hand-outs, carrying a few runners along.

During this burlesque Buckfield is credited with 6 singles, three of which might have been felled into put-outs. Gerrish lambasted a double which was stricken from the records when he cut first base and was declared out. Norway is accountable for only two errors of commission but the things which were omitted are legion. The visitors purloined 6 runs in this episode. The visitors

The fifth inning was in the track and the Buckfield outfit sailed down 3 scores before the Norwegians could ditch the ball. In this inning Waterman and Gerrish slugged two doubles near the deep left foul line, and with the assistance of various misplays, scored easily. The visitors garnered 3 runs in this fracas.

The game followed this storm and the Norwegians were unable to get going. Three innings followed with good ball playing the rule, but Norway failed to get in on any eventful hour rally. Their fighting juice had been neutralized with no inclination toward a come-back.

In the ninth the visitors generously played Santa Claus and tucked away three scores into the Norway stockings. Benson walked two, hit another and his men behind offered the vanquished outfit every inducement to round up some of the goodies. Even reckless feeling failed to arouse the benumbed senses. Norway just couldn't make up and appreciate the golden opportunity, the bat was heavy and Benson's stuff proved elusive.

Bacon, who twirled for Norway, pitched against a formidable line-up of two ragged innings. Fumbles, poor throwing and lack of energy scored heavily against his pitching record. He worked hard during the game and with Fletcher behind the bat, they made a strong team when support was properly given.

An adlib is a useless weapon to a good sport, but it is only fair to note that Norway was crippled by the non-appearance of Claude Hunt, the North Norway twirler. Emery and Billings of West Paris, and Noel Shepard of Norway, were substitutes naturally changed the line-up and upset the regular combination. Rowe, the old timer, was on deck and played his usual steady game at first base. What might have happened if Billy White's hands were behind the bat, we can only speculate and leave that to the gamblers and "futures." We leave that to the sidewalk wags aces.

Whatever our feelings may be, we must hand it to County Attorney Fred Dyer, Harley Rowland and Park Buckfield sports who are trying to keep that burg on the Oxford County baseball map. Their team is purely home talent and can hit like fiends. They possess the fighting spirit, and "gray matter" is also a prominent feature. If it was good, it may be possible to meet the outfit in the future with a team strong enough to make them show their reserved stuff which they were not forced to give out in the Saturday game. ## A UNIQUE RECORD

Home testimony for Doan's Kidney Pills, published in every locality, is of itself convincing evidence of merit. Confirmed testimony forms still stronger evidence. Years ago, a citizen of Norway gratefully acknowledged the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement is now confirmed—the proof more convincing. Cases of this kind are plentiful in the work of Doan's Kidney Pills—the record is unique.

S. C. Foster, barber, Main street, Norway says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and I am only too glad to say to others I think they are the best of kidney medicines. Several years ago I had kidney trouble. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at F. P. Stone's Drug Store and I was soon feeling all right again. I remained so for a long time, but later caught cold and my kidneys gave me trouble. I again took Doan's and they gave me relief." (Statement given July 24, 1908).

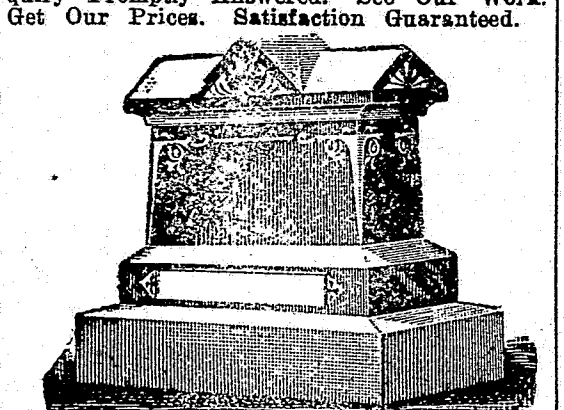

On June 6, 1916, Mr. Foster added: "I still think as well of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I first endorsed them. I use them occasionally, as I feel in need of them and I am always promptly benefited."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Foster had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 33-34

THE ORCHARD PATH

There's a little pathway winding
Through the waving orchard grass,
And the daisies are bending
All nodding as I pass.
And the summer dews seem floating
In the thick blown apple trees
And I hear the old time voices
In the passing of the breeze.
The pathway I follow
Leads to the old house doors,
But those who walked beside me
In the happy days of yore
Are sleeping in the sunlight
Yet their presence in the silence
Seems to be around me still.
—ELLEN MILLETT, DAVENPORT.

TRAVEL NOTES

Houseful of Worthless Valuables; Varied Hued Roses, Stockholders' Meeting, Incidents, Sunday River Fishing, etc.

I went up to Al Park's house the other day. Mother accompanied me. Al has been registered of Probate for many years. It matters not how many. He succeeded H. C. Davis when it is alleged, fled his papers in a barrel. Albert does not do that way, at least I never knew him to.

His home is on the hill in the rear of L. L. Mason's residence and can be reached by several roads. He built there 22 years ago and was the first to occupy "the heights above Sylvan Shurtleff's mansion" at South Paris. Billy Bolter was the landscape artist, probably assisted a little by Mr. and Mrs. Park on the fly. Billy would brook no interference in his artistic designs, but somehow he allowed Albert to plant rose bushes, trees, and vines that have added to the attractiveness of the place for years. Mother was loaded down with roses of so many kinds I dare not enumerate. They look pretty and riding home I sure think the people thought we were going to a funeral or a wedding.

I explained to acquaintances that I'd been up to Al Park's house. That was satisfactory and for the curiosity of the others I don't care, as funerals and weddings are respectable.

Manotabar maples almost a foot in diameter have grown from the seed planted by Mr. Park. There are several of them. Big clusters of Concord and Niagara grapes hang from the trellises and corn, sweet corn, the like of which I have not seen before this season, is growing in the garden. Albert gives an oak tree calomel and in so doing has saved it from death. It is an enormously big oak and is now growing and thriving as the proverbial bay-bush of scripture. I never heard of such a thing before, but I'm not "up" in tree-doctoring and Albert is. That's the difference.

Among the trees are tin cans and boxes as nesting homes for the birds and they are occupied. No doubt of it. I saw them going in and out and Mrs. Park told me the names or variety of birds, but I have forgotten them. They sing and make merry early in the morning when Albert is trying to sleep. No doubt of it.

Indoors there is a monster collection of old skulch some of it anti-dating the arrival of the ark at Mt. Ararat. Albert has been "collecting" for a full third of a century and I surmise the Mrs. has assisted in everything in the house in apple pie order. I wouldn't attempt to enumerate. The house is full of well arranged and useless bric-a-brac of ancient vintage and historic value.

Mrs. Park is something with paint and brush as the walls testify. All her looking efforts to the untutored eye. How she got time to do so much and keep Albert supplied with hand-knit socks and out of a boarding house is beyond me. And another thing I don't see any dirt or dust in the house either. I must be an elderly lady, an aunt, I think. Mrs. Estes, in the kitchen, maybe she is accountable for this. I don't know. Sink, stove and pantry are arranged to save steps. I wonder if Billy Bolter planned it? I guess he did. Mr. Bolter is dead and cannot be interviewed. It's awfully convenient and caused Mother much envy as she has always been wanting a house where she could sit and sleep on the veranda. Here she found a model one. It is a short journey from sink to stove into the pantry and through a window to a table on the piazza. Great scheme! Not desirable in howling zero weather. Then Albert can eat in the kitchen or off the two hundred dollar mahogany table in the dining room.

Flies are not permitted to intrude as this portion of the porch is screened in. Another part of the piazza at the other end of the house is similarly screened and used for sleeping purposes. It is electrically lighted and Japanese screens of varied hues shut out the gaze of curious neighbors when retiring.

Mr. Park has seized the opportunity as auctioneer not only to fill his home with the choicest antiques gathered from hundreds of sales, but he has a large building on Western Avenue filled to overflowing with just ordinary second-hand furniture. The "stuff" he has in his house he won't sell at any price, but that in the store-house is handed out at reasonable prices to those who want it. A Bar Harbor cottage owner recently looked over the antiques and expressed a willingness to part with big sums of money for some crockery and glassware, but Albert was obstinate and would not set a price and the man went away probably some what disgusted that money couldn't buy what he wanted. Such is the disappointment that comes to the wealthy.

I'm treading on dangerous ground in writing this. Mr. Park will probably be offended and stop his paper. If so, I'll have to worry along and print one less paper per week in the future.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bethel Water Co. was held on the 12th in Bethel. I attended. Maybe you don't know that I'm a stockholder in that institution. I have been for many years. The meetings are interesting and thorough; no one seems to want to hold office except myself. Very nearly all get re-elected or pressed into the service much against their will. This year Judge A. E. Herrick, who has been clerk and treasurer for 33 years, actually did get re-elected on official duty, but he agreed to stand by and point the way. W. C. Gerry succeeds him. Mr. Gerry was superintendent of the Company last year and knows something of the ins and outs of a public utility. He is a Norway boy and some of the stockholders are of the same persuasion. He is a Norway boy and some of the stockholders are of the same persuasion. He is a Norway boy and some of the stockholders are of the same persuasion.

William W. Hastings of Old Orchard, Bethel, Me., and the National Park, Arkansas, attended the meeting. He is located in all three places and has something to do with the Boston & Honduras Mining Co., at least he gets a regular dividend from them every three months and sometimes an extra one. I was permitted to look at the last annual financial statement of the company and saw that their business run into the millions and will get a portion of it which permits him to stop at the Hot Springs National Park winters and take the vacation. He did last winter. There were 500 rooms in the house where he stopped. It was not the largest house as there is one there that has 2000 rooms and all of them were occupied. The rates for rooms only where Mr. Hastings stopped were: For one October and November, $15.00 per day; December $30.00; January $50.00; February $70.00; and March, $100.00 per day. You can eat where you see fit or not eat at all if you like. He enjoyed the winter holidays, listening to music, attending the races and participating in the social functions which were many and varied. The climate is very similar to what we have in October.

I overheard Eben Kilborn to say he would sell his Songo Pond summer home. When asked his reason for so doing, said, "He had been there some time and had got tired of it." I didn't price it as I'm overladen with a summer place, but it is a beautiful spot anyhow. I think it is in the town of Albany. It is where Crooked River takes its rise and there are trout, salmon and pickerel in the water.

The "Hastings Spring" on the knoll at the bend of the road, near the Androscoggin River, has come to life. That is, there is water in it. It should be cleaned out and a board put over it and a stake with a dipper attached, put up. I'll furnish the dipper, but it would be unlawful for anyone but dogs to drink out of it. I mean the dipper. I'll see that it is produced just the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brown of Frost Hill, Bethel, are living in the Littlehale house. Mrs. Brown told me she had done the work for ten boarders all winter. She says a good number of trout have been caught early this season. I didn't find many, only one which I gave to a disappointed fisherman who had got three trout. His name was Trask and formerly lived in the house where the big willows stood. He now lives in Hanover, near Charles Bartlett's, having moved there some years ago.

The Bumpus Opening up Bull Branch, back of Littlehale's is pretty well grown up. You can't see out and the apple trees are hidden away among the growing evergreens. I followed the logging road to the junction of Goose-Eye brook and fished up Bull Branch 80 rods or so, but did not see a fish. Then I fished down stream for an hour and a half with the same result. Beautiful pools but no fish in them. At "the Bumpus pot-hole" I tarried long and fished bait, but not a nibble. Gone where? Into the fish-baskets of former fishermen! I diligently cast tempting flies over the water on the main river from the mill to Frank Littlehale's, but did not find a legal length trout. The time before this that I came down the river I got two. That was several years ago. The time was when I'd have filled a basket in one-fourth the distance. I enjoyed the trip even though I was alone and the trout, like the old inhabitants of the valley, had left me.

Mike Losier of Norway was met up Sunday River the other day. He has been there for some time working in the steam mill. Mr. N. B. Springer of Bethel, of Merrill, Springer & Co. of that town, own the mill and are saving birch dowels. They bought the Stillman Littlehale place last year.

I stopped at the "Abbott House" on Upton Hill. It is a good place to stop. Enoch Abbott and wife have run the house for more than 25 years and are favorably known to the sporting world and traveling public. Mr. Abbott has been town-treasurer of Upton for the past 35 years and for the past year or so has also been tax collector. He is the third generation from the original settler. His grandfather came from Andover, Me., and built the mill on the outlet of the Dead Cambridge and started a larger family and considerable of a town.

The late George Abbott of Norway, also U. S. G. Abbott, came from Upton and are of the same Abbott family.

Bethel to Upton is 28 miles. Charles H. Davis of Bethel has driven the stage over this route for 2 years and he isn't an old man yet. I recently had a talk with him. He can tell you all about Grafton Notch, both in summer and winter and the animals and inhabitants along the road. He has learned them.

I was attracted thither by a desire to go up the Dead Cambridge and view the forest of big elms and the realm of moose and deer. The water was too low for boat travel and surely I'd not walk up that river into O Pond for half the state. Hence, I have not made the trip, but deferred to a more convenient time.

Mr. Durkee who owns and runs the saw-mill and lets boats, says few if any trout could now be caught in the Dead Cambridge. Water was too low!

A mile or so of the Swift Cambridge was fished by which runs by the roadside in the Lake as a matter of routine for having been fished for winter trout fishing. It is alleged to have been done by the Stone Brothers, perhaps 50 or 60 years ago. These fish have thrived and multiplied but whether they have damaged the trout, I cannot say. Many trout are caught here each year and this water now yields about as many trout as the other lakes in the chain. Some are of the opinion that there are more trout in Umbagog now than in the Upton Lake. A man now living in Newry is said to have stocked it with horn-pouts because he liked the fish to eat and wanted a place to catch them. Pouts do not injure the others, at least they do not have that reputation like pickerel.

Grafton as a town is a thing of the past. There are only two real estate owners. One below the Notch and another above it. The Brown Company of Berlin, N. H., have bought the farms and are allowing it to revert to a wilderness as fast as time and growth will permit. There are several unoccupied farm buildings on the road. I am told that these are not over productive and the crops are subject to late and early frosts even to the extent of killing potatoes. Most of the farms are on the low lands of Cedar Brook and the Swift Cambridge.

Charles D. Brown of North Bethel has charge of the road in Grafton and has a crew working on them. They are being put into good shape. The road through the Notch isn't too bad considering nothing has been done to it for the past two seasons.

An auto in trouble was met this side of Poplar Tavern, North Newry. The carburetor did not work properly and the car refused to go. Walter was called to their assistance and soon discovered there was no trouble with the carburetor. The flow of gas was clogged. The obstruction was removed and the car went on its way all right, much to the satisfaction of all, especially to the little girl who clapped her hands and laughed and danced with joy when the car started up.

They were about ready to telephone into Bethel to be hauled in when we came along. Allie Knight of Auburn, a traveling salesman for hardware and a brother of Will Knight seemed to be the boss about the car, though a woman drove it.

WORMS MAKE SICK CHILDREN

Signs of worms in children are: De-ranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

The safe method for ridding the child of worms is to use Dr. True's Elixir. Mrs. William G. Bonin, of Caddo, Oklahoma, wrote regarding Dr. True's Elixir, "We have used it for our children for the last twelve years and certainly know the value of it." You can buy Dr. True's Elixir wherever medicine is sold. Pleasant tasting—gentle acting. The family laxative and worm expeller for children and grown folks.

Large Tourmaline Purchase

Robert F. Bickford, lapidary and dealer in Maine gems of this town has bought the contents of three gem "pockets" recently taken from the Greenlaw tourmaline mine in Auburn. Green-blue tourmaline stock weighing more than 12 thousand carats is in this purchase, which is the largest find since the famous Hayvee find several years ago.

The stock is remarkably clear and will cut with very small loss. Its quality is unquestionably the highest grade in the country owing to the brilliancy in colorings and hardness. H. Knox Bickford, expert gem cutter, commenced on the stock this week. When it became known that Mr. Bickford had been the successful purchaser in competition with several New York dealers, orders commenced to arrive on every mail. This stock will keep the cutter in active business at least two years, according to the owner's statements.

This purchase of raw material is one of the largest single sales ever made in the state, and places the Norway dealer practically in complete control of first quality green tourmaline in the state, if not in the country.

During the past few years Mr. Bickford has been unable to supply the demand for Maine tourmaline, because no large "finds" have produced the material. With this stock on hand and the lapidary working to capacity, the gem market should boom with Norway on the big end.

Poison Bran Bait for Chewing Insects

Prof. G. A. Yeaton, the county demonstration agent, gave us the following remedy for saving of crops: "In years past grasshoppers and army worms have caused considerable loss to field crops by chewing the stalks and leaves. The simplest and most effective remedy for either of these pests is what is known as the 'Poison Bran Bait' which can be applied to any field or garden crop. This bait is mixed as follows:

Wheat Bran, 25 lbs., Paris Green or White Arsenic, 1 lb. 6 fine chopped fruits in oranges or lemons; 2 gallons hot grade molasses; 2 gallons water.

The bran and paris green or arsenic should be thoroughly mixed while dry; the fruits are then chopped and added, and lastly the molasses is diluted with water and poured over the bait, which should be thoroughly mixed and kneaded. This bait will attract chewing insects on account of the sweetness caused by the molasses and the odor from the oranges and lemons. It should be placed on the ground in many different places in the field in very small quantities in the following place, especially near the outside row of the field crops such as corn, beans, turnips and in fact all crops which the grasshopper or army worm will feed on.

"The bait may be safely used in any hay or corn field, and where it has been tried it has proved to be a very efficient remedy."

About every industry throughout the country is making about fifteen per cent. advance in wages. Of course this means that we will have to pay more for everything from what we consume to what we wear. We expect to pay more for our next lot of goods that we purchase, therefore we will have to place a higher price on them, but this higher price will not go on any goods that we have on hand at the present time. Now we say to our customers and others who are not customers that there is no better way to make good money than to BUY NOW.

Come in and we will explain the situation to you.

Cold relief

A common cause of many colds is the sudden checking of the unconscious perspiration by exposure to a change of temperature. Colds whether taking the form of Coryza with sneezing, running nose, and perhaps sore throat, or with chilly and feverish symptoms, should never be neglected in the earliest stages. Serious illness often results from such neglect.

It is well to get early to bed, to get the body well warmed, and most important to have the bowels move freely. There is no safer or better remedy to use at the beginning of a cold than "L. F. Atwood's Medicine. Two to four teaspoonfuls will quickly relieve congested conditions, drive out impurities from the system and ward off further trouble. Always keep a bottle in the house. Any dealer will supply you for fifty cents. If you have never used it, write today for a free sample to the "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.
